

Audio-visual Requirements

Robert Glennon uses Prezi, instead of PowerPoint. His Prezi has videos, which may include sound.

On stage, he prefers to use a wireless lavalier microphone. He is very animated and does not need a podium. He'll need a remote control to advance the slides. He would prefer that there be a floor monitor, so that he will know what is appearing on the screen without having to turn around and look. Absent a floor monitor, strategic placement of a laptop may serve the same function.

He would like a glass of water on a table, both as a prop and to drink.